BRYAN, TEXAS, OCT. 5, 1909.

According to the rural New Yorker you can make a savings bank of a sand bank by putting cowpeas, clover or vetch into it.

There is said to be a man without a stomach living somewhere in the United States. If the price of living keeps going up his tribe will increase.

President Taft thinks he can appoint a better legislative body for Alaska than the people of Alaska could elect for themselves. This is a flat-footed denial of the right of self government.

Bristol, on the line between Virginia and Tennessee, is now the only spot where a fellow can wet his whistle between Roanoke, Va., and New Orleans, on the line of railroad passing through the heart of the Old South. Yet the mint grows green as ever in the pellucid mountain streams of the Switzerland of America.

Attention has been called to the fact that when Taft preached on Sunday in the great Mormon temple he failed to take up a collection. But why should he want the people's dirty coppers and nickels when the government pays him $25,000 extra for his preaching tour and Aldrich and Cannon with the aid of some Southern Democrats have devised a scheme for taking up the collection without passing the hat.

If the woman suffragists really desire to succeed in their contention they should first convert those of their own sex. The great majority of American women are content to leave politics to the men and while this is so the movement for woman suffrage can make little progress. There is probably not a state in the union in which a majority of the men would refuse the ballot to women if they had reason to believe that a majority of the women wanted it.

The contention of the reactionaries that the Terrell election law makes it impossible for any but the rich man to secure the nomination for governor is disproven by the primary last year. An obscure country blacksmith, without money or influential friends, received over one hundred thousand votes and would have defeated Governor Campbell if the people had believed that he was capable of filling the office of governor with credit to the state.

This is more than a mere statement. It is a guarantee everything going out of this store under our label is up to a definite standard of purity and strength. It amounts to this: If we say a thing is so, it's so.

Get our label on all your drug store goods. It's a good thing to go by.

OFFICERS OF ROSS VOLUNTEERS.

"Pete" Bittle Who Was Raised on the Campus Is Honored With the Captaincy.

College Station, Texas, October 5.—George F. H. Bittle, familiarly known as "Pete" by his College mates, who came to the college as a little shaver, and who has grown up in the midst of college life, has been honored by his fellows by election to the captaincy of the Ross Volunteers.

The Ross Volunteers is a social military organization within the cadet corps of the A. and M. College. Membership in the organization is by invitation. The company was organized during the administration of the late Governor L. S. Ross as president of the College, and every year the vacancies which have been caused by the dropping out of students, are filled by election and invitation. The organization is one of well drilled men and it is one of the social organizations of the college. Capt. Bittle came to the College when but two years of age. His father the late Rev. T. C. Bittle was professor of languages and chaplain, for fifteen years being connected with the College. Capt. Bittle was chief bugler last year. This year he is a senior, is adjutant of the second battalion of the cadet corps and is popular with all the boys at College.

John William Butts of Cisco was made first lieutenant. Cadet Butts is also sergeant at arms of the senior class, yell leader for the entire corps, quartermaster of the first battalion and student assistant in the library.

The other officers of the Ross Volunteers are Robert Gibson Sherrard of Burnett, second lieutenant. He is major of the second battalion in the cadet corps. Flak Wright of Waco is first sergeant, Charles Edwin Sanford of Shiner and William Pell Briscoe of Fulshear are line sergeants.

There was much interest in the election of officers.

"THE DEMONS POWER."

Tonight at the Tent Theater the audience will witness a production that is in a class by itself to anything yet presented by this popular company. Show business does not differ in any way from other businesses, so a company must have a list of plays that will suit all classes, so therefore the production for tonight is the strongest Dramatic bill in their entire repertoire. Each and every member has an opportunity to show his or her ability as an artist. This grand production is in four acts. "The Demon's Power" is equal to a sermon. It is a lesson to the old and young and everyone should grasp the opportunity of seeing this great story as it will make everyone better and lift him on to a higher plane of living.

A Long Time Dying.
Mr. Fred Terry told this anecdote of the death scene in "The Heel of Achilles."

"One day," he says, "we were rehearsing this play, and a member of my company came in from the street and asked the call boy how far the rehearsal had got.

"Mr. Terry's just dying," replied the boy.

"Good. I've time to smoke a cigarette before my entrance."

"Presently the actor returned and repeated the question.

"Still dying," answered the boy.

"Oh, I'll go and have another cigarette, then."

"Back he came and only got the same reply from the call boy.

"Finally, after smoking five cigarettes, he asked, a little wearily, how far the rehearsal had gone.

"Still dying," answered the call boy.

"Great Scott!" gasped the actor. "He must be immortal!"—London Answers.

The First Language.

No one of the existing languages has any legitimate claim to be considered the original of the family of languages, standing to the others as Latin, for instance, stands to Italian and French. Of an original primitive language of mankind the most patient research has found no trace. All of them—Assyrian, Phoenician, Hebrew, Arabic—are sister languages, pointing back to an earlier parent language, which has long disappeared. Since the historical period man has done little in the way of the absolute creation of language. The work had already been accomplished ages before the birth of written inscriptions.—New York American.

All His Own.

A young man and his sweetheart were walking together through late fields.

The young man was rather of a bashful nature and had been paying attention to this same young woman for a considerable time without having plucked up courage to put the all important question.

On this particular night, however, he mustered sufficient pluck to ask her how she thought he was progressing with his courting. At the same time his arm stole round her waist.

"Well, Jack," said the girl quietly, "I think you are holding your own at present."

Her Playing.

Mrs. McDuff—This paper says that mice are attracted by music, but I don't believe it.

McDuff—Why not?

Mrs. McDuff—Because I never see any mice around when I play the piano.

McDuff—Well, that's no reason for doubting the paper's statement.

A GOOD REASON.

Bryan People can Tell Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poison that causes backache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Bryan people testify to permanent cures.

W. J. Walker, Caldwell St. Bryan, Texas, says: "For some time I was compelled to rise several times at night on account of too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. I also had severe pains in my back and my energy was in such a low state that I found difficulty in attending to my
